

Personal Leadership Coaching Offer

Creating Possibility in the Unknown

Elizabeth Robinson, NCOC, ICF Certified Coach

We've all heard that inherent in change and the unknown is opportunity. Now is a powerful time to focus on shifts that we can make to maintain a strong core and see new possibilities in our lives and as leaders of teams, organizations, and communities. Who are you being called to be/do now? What new potential do you sense is ready to emerge? Is there an area in your life or work where you want to magnify impact now? Is your core strong?

Personal Leadership Coaching is a doorway to evolve to who you need to be now. It's about aligning with the wave of change happening everywhere and empowering yourself to shake loose of the old and create the next possibility of you. Whether you are looking to achieve a specific outcome in your current work role, career, or in your life, the answers are within. We work together to transform previous perspectives and habits into new sense-making and actions that deliver the reality you intend.

How Does It Work?

- We meet initially for 30 min to explore the fit of this opportunity for you
- You set one or more goals to move towards over 6 weeks
- We have six coaching conversations for 45 minutes each week
- I serve as an accountability partner and support you with whatever you have learned about yourself between sessions and how you desire to move ahead in the next week
- Coaching sessions are available at 9am or 10am Pacific Time Monday to Friday
- This coaching series starts the week of May 25 and completes by July 4

What Does Elizabeth Offer?

- 25+ years' experience as a leadership designer, mentor, coach, and facilitator in supporting clients around the world become the leaders they are called to be in some domain of work or life
- Practices to support you to choose differently so that you take the actions you design
- Methodology that invites you to access head, heart, and body for embodied change

What are Your Commitments

- Willingness to share your goal(s), your values around your goal, and what gets in your way
- Willingness to commit to an action, large or small, between sessions
- Willingness to go deep into what you learned between sessions in either taking actions steps...or not
- Honesty to share how you are within the process along the way

Your Opportunity

Pro bono rate of $60 for the six weeks if activated by May 22
